TEN CENTS PER WEEK

DELEGATES TO THE OHIO VALLEY IMPROVEMENT ASS'N

Selected by Different Organizations of Rivermen at Open Meeting Last Night.

Will Ask City to Defray Expenses of Delegates.

IT WOULD BENEFIT PADUCAH

The masters, pilots, engineers and mates met in an open session last night at the Marine Engineers association hall and elected delegates and substitutes to be recommended to Mayor Smith for his approval as delegates to the convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement association, which meets at Louisville October 22 and 23. The delegates appointed by the river men were Engineer J. L. Weston, Pilot I. O. Ford, Mate George Beal. The substitutes appointed in case the regular delegates could not go were Engineer Ellis Ford, Pilot Austin Owen, Mate Conway Graydon, Capt. S. A. Fowler and a committee from the river men will ask the councilmen and aldermen at their next regular meetings to defray the expenses of three delegates, to be sent from Paducah as representatives of the river interest and business interest in this city in having the nine-foot stage from Cairo to Pittsburgh the year round.

The meeting of river men last night was called to order by Captain George W. Lee, secretary of the Marine Engineers association. Captain I. O. Ford, a member of the pilots association, was elected chairman. Captain Saunders A. Fowler, a member of the Ohio Valley Improvement association, was present on a request of the river men and gave a short talk on the benefits Paducah would realize from the nine-foot stage the year around. Captain Fowler had data showing that Paducah was now the fourth city along the Ohio river in the amount of tonnage shipped by river. The cities making first, second and third place are Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Louisville. With the nine-foot stage Paducah would be one of the largest shipping points along the Ohio and tributaries and with the opening of the Panama canal, the grain and the foodstuffs that are now being sent east and then by boat to southern ports and to the western coast, will be shipped by the way of the Ohio river, south and through the canal to the western coast. Captain Fowler said that the big railroads of the north were looking forward to Paducah as being one of the largest shipping points on the Ohio river when the nine-foot stage is completed.

The improvements to the lower end of the river will take seven years to complete at a cost of $63,000,000. There will be three locks and dams within 45 miles of Paducah, which means more to Paducah than any undertaking one could possibly conceive of.

The river men came to the conclusion that the only way to get the nine-foot stage was to send a good delegation from this city to Louisville during the convention and to get the people of the convention to get the need of the deep waterway, for maybe they are from Missouri.

The meeting adjourned until next Wednesday night, when all river men and others interested in the improvement of the rivers and harbors are cordially invited to attend. There will be some good speaking.

There were about forty river men present at last night's meeting.

Irrigation Congress.

Albuquerque, Sept. 30.—John Barrett, director of the international bureau of the American republics, made the principal address at the irrigation congress today. He outlined the progress of irrigation in the Pan-American countries. W. H. Wiley explained irrigation by private enterprise in Colorado. The resolutions committee was swamped with various suggestions.

Republicans Organize

Notices are being mailed from the Republican headquarters by Secretary H. C. Hoover to all of the prominent Republicans in the city and representatives from each ward calling attention to a meeting that will be held Monday, October 5. The meeting will be held for the selection of precinct officers and outlining the plan of the campaign. A rousing meeting is expected.

New York, Sept. 30.—The Anaconda Copper Mining company declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share. This is unchanged from the last previous quarter.

Paducah Ranks Fourth in the Amount of Tonnage Shipped on Ohio River for Year 1906

Figures That Reflect the Great Value of Rivers to the City, and Prompt Our Interest in Their Improvement.

RIVER TRADE OF PRINCIPAL TOWNS ON THE OHIO IN 1906

PITTSBURGH AND ALLEGHENY—Population, 350,000; received and shipped 4,278,382 tons.
Cincinnati—Population, 325,000; received and shipped 4,000,000 tons.
Louisville—Population, 204,731; 1,917,526.
PADUCAH—Population, 19,446; 828,080 tons, or one-fifth as much as Pittsburgh.
Evansville—Population, 59,007; 374,500.
Wheeling—Population, 41,000; 241,000.

Paducah people have truly a faint conception of the value of its rivers, but probably more of them will have more when they read the illuminating address of Saunders A. Fowler, delivered at the Commercial club dinner last week, and which is printed below.

Paducah enjoys a distinction not often given to cities. Standing at the gateway of the south the immense tonnage sent down the Ohio and tributary rivers, passes her very doors and at the same time she is the recognized head of deep water winter navigation. Upon the bosom of the mighty Ohio there passes down by here fourteen millions of tonnage annually, originating at Pittsburgh and increasing in volume as it comes down the river. In order to better handle this ever-increasing tonnage and to meet the demands of commerce there was organized fifteen years ago the Ohio Valley Improvement association, whose object was to secure from congress a just recognition of the importance of improving the national highways and especially the Ohio river from Pittsburgh to Cairo. For years this association knocked at the doors of congress for recognition but to no avail, until finally after repeated efforts the attention of the rivers and harbors committee was secured and the experiment of improving the Ohio with locks and dams was begun. The scheme for providing this 9 foot stage from Pittsburgh to Cairo embraces the building of 54 locks and dams at various places, the estimated cost of which is $63,731,488.00. The time required to complete the work, seven years. There are now under construction and complete about 12 of these locks and dams and all of them are successes. In the past three years the sentiment of improving the waterways has grown so that now not only the chief executive of the nation, but the entire board of engineers recommend the plans and urge upon congress the adoption and completion of them. Now briefly, what does this mean to Paducah? Three of these proposed dams are located very near to us. Dam number 52 is to be located three miles below Smithland, or the mouth of the Cumberland river at a cost of $2,248,000. Dam number 53 is located at Grand Chain, 23 miles from Paducah and half way to Cairo, and will cost $2,800,000. Dam number 54 is located at Mount City, 45 miles below Paducah and will cost $2,260,000, or a total of $7,308,000, to be spent within a radius of forty-five miles of this city, employing in the work not less than three thousand men for five years, working six months each year. Surely the spending of so great amount of money so near this place for labor, provisions and materials will be beneficial to our merchants and citizens generally.

The building of these three dams alone insures uninterrupted navigation the year round between Paducah and Cairo, Tennessee river, and St. Louis and Paducah and the Cumberland river, all of which are so valuable.

REID RESTING WELL AND HAS A CHANCE TO RECOVER

With another 24 hours of rest it is hoped that John Reid, who was shot by Emmett Wood Monday afternoon, may have a chance to recover. Last night Reid had a quiet night at the hospital. The wound in the bowels may not cause his death, but the wound through the lung has not reached its worst stage yet. Reid has much confidence that he will recover, and this is a factor in keeping him alive so far.

ANOTHER SALE OF REGISTER MAY BE HELD

It is probable that the plant of the Register Newspaper company, which is in bankruptcy, may be sold again. As Attorney E. W. Bagby, referee in bankruptcy, has received notice that Judge Evans has set aside the last sale provisionally. Not until October 8 will it be known whether he will set aside the sale permanently and order the plant resold or let it go to Attorney Campbell Flournoy for $6,200, the highest bid at the last sale. The sale was set aside temporarily by Judge Evans in order to give B. H. Scott, who represents the bond holders, an opportunity to put in a higher bid. Should a higher bid not be received it is concluded that the sale will be ratified.

Old Railroad Man Dies.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 30.—Stephen P. Cole, aged 59 years, for 38 years in the employ of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, was found dead in his chair in the local freight office, where he was record clerk. Heart trouble was the cause.

Will Remain at Peoria.

Columbus, Sept. 30.—Permanent headquarters of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers will remain at Peoria, Ill., where they have been for fourteen years. This was decided at the convention yesterday.

TRUST CO. SECTION OF BANKERS' ASS'N OPPOSES GUARANTY

Denver, Sept. 30.—The trust company section of the American Bankers' association by a vote of 74 to 5 went on record in opposition to the bank deposit guarantee proposition, making the third subsidiary association of the American Bankers to declare itself on this subject. The motion to vote on the proposition for the postal savings bank was defeated. All speeches, however, were against the postal savings bank plan.

DOCTOR'S GOLD IS STOLEN BY PICKPOCKET

Touched for eight $20 gold pieces and three notes, all amounting to about $200, is the luck of Dr. G. A. Hamlet, of Massac, who came to the city this morning to take in the circus Dr. Hamlet has a lost ad in this issue of the Sun, offering $50 reward for the return of the money or information concerning the same. The police force was notified last night that a bunch of crooks were following the group, and so they are. Dr. Hamlet has not the slightest idea as to the time his money was taken or in what part of the city he was when the light-fingered friend got in his work. Other smaller pickpocket thefts have been reported and the cops are on the lookout for the nimble finger workers.

Medical Society Meeting.

A good attendance was present last night at the McCracken County Medical society with its secretary, Dr. Ver non Blythe. The speakers were Dr. Blythe and Dr. Henry Duley. The next meeting will be held Wednesday evening with Dr. Della Caldwell, on Broadway.

Frost in Illinois.

BRYAN REPLIES TO ROOSEVELT'S LATEST LETTER

Charges More Attention Given to Mote Than Beam by President.

Dwells Largely on Campaign Contributions.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN FUND

Chicago, Sept. 30.—"I have lived in vain if your accusations have lost me a single friend," said Bryan in a letter addressed to President Roosevelt, replying to that of the president written Sunday.

Bryan points to his record and declares that it is a sufficient answer to the insinuations of the chief executive that he is in sympathy with or controlled by the trusts. Reverting to the charges against Haskell, Bryan says the president, in response to his request, did not deign to suggest a tribunal which could determine those charges, but instead proceeded to pass judgment upon him, and informs the president that the occupant of that high office cannot deny to the humblest citizen the right to protect his reputation and vindicate his name in the courts.

Taking up the president's assertion that certain trust magnates, fearing prosecution under Taft, will support the Democratic candidate, Bryan charges that the president worded his statement in such a way as to claim the support of all trust magnates "and not put it on the ground that they are supporting your party for patriotic reasons, rather than for the promotion of selfish interest."

In proof of the fact that he would not be controlled by the trusts, Bryan says that if elected he will enforce the anti-trust laws, not spasmodically and intermittently, but persistently and consistently.

Bryan, in dealing with the Democratic campaign fund of 1896 as compared with the Republican fund of 1904, charges that the president pays "more attention to the mote than to the beam" and asserts that in 1903 the Republicans used in one state a fund almost as large as the entire sum of the Democratic party had in its control. The letter concluded with a notice to the president that an opportunity would be afforded him "to misrepresent the motives of those who give to our campaign fund and to arouse all the suspicion you can."

The closing portion of Bryan's statement is devoted to campaign contributions. He says:

"You attempt to make a personal question of it and ask whether any one will accuse such men as you, Hughes and Taft of being influenced

NEW POSTAL RATE.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The two cent letter rate to Great Britain begins tomorrow. If successful the government hopes to extend it to all Europe and the English colonies. Germany, France and Italy has asked a similar arrangement with those countries.

Ohio Going Dry

Columbus, O., Sept. 30.—Today's returns show twelve additional counties have voted "dry." This adds 400,000 people to the dry area, and puts 300 saloons out. The prohibitionists have not lost a county in the series of elections.

WEATHER.

FAIR.

Fair and warmer tonight. Thursday fair. Highest temperature yesterday, 60; lowest today, 46.

NON-PARTISAN SCHOOL TICKET NOT READY FOR ANNOUNCEMENT.

The committee selected by the citizens' meeting to select a ticket for school board met at the city hall yesterday afternoon, and made up a ticket. But, as all of the men selected to serve have not been seen to ascertain if they are willing to be placed on the ticket, the announcement of it has been withheld. The committee is laboring earnestly to get a ticket that will appeal to every voter as strictly an independent movement, and its actions will necessarily be deliberate.

President Roosevelt Will Not Reply to the Personal Attack Made by Democratic Candidate

Loeb Declares There is No Reason for Answer—Movement of Both Presidential Candidates.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Secretary Loeb announced that President Roosevelt will not reply to Bryan's latest letter. He explained that the president thinks the letter is simply a personal attack and there is no reason for an answer.

Bryan's State Republican.

Emerson, Neb., Sept. 30.—Taft made ten stops in Nebraska today. Governor Sheldon accompanied him. He declared Nebraska is safely Republican. Taft paid a tribute to Bryan as a citizen and man, but said he must remember his reputation for changing beliefs and devising new political schemes over night. He expressed the hope that Bryan would lead his followers to a third defeat.

Bryan in Iowa.

Muscatine, Ia., Sept. 30.—Bryan made a half dozen speeches today. He followed the line of his last letter to Roosevelt and attacked the president's attitude in the campaign. He declared the people would resent any attempt of a president to name his successor. Large crowds heard him at every place.

Goes Outside Union Banks.

Minneapolis, Sept. 30.—Gompers is preparing to go outside the ranks of union labor in trying to elect Bryan. President Howley, of the Minnesota federation, has received a letter from Gompers urging him to invite all workmen to attend the coming meeting here. He announced hereafter the Gompers slogan will be

KINCAID HEIRS SUE TRACTION CO. FOR $25,000

Holding the Paducah Traction company responsible for the fatal injury and death of Thomas J. Kincaid, James C. Kincaid, administrator of the deceased, filed suit in the circuit court this afternoon asking damages to the extent of $25,000.

In the petition James Kincaid recites that on September 18 when Thomas Kincaid attempted to get off of a Third street car at Shelton's foundry on South Third street, the car was started up quickly by the motorman and Thomas Kincaid was thrown to the brick street. The plain tiff says that the deceased grabbed the step of the car in trying to save himself and that the motorman carelessly and by gross negligence failed to apply the brakes. He states that Thomas Kincaid held to the steps for about 200 feet when he grew weak and was forced to release his hold.

The administrator says that the car wheels passed over his right arm and leg, severing both of them and he was otherwise fatally injured. Then, he says, the motorman reversed the current and ran back over the body, going 18 or 20 feet before stopping.

James Kincaid was appointed administrator of Thomas Kincaid September 26 in the county clerk's office. The suit was filed by the law firm of Hendrick & Corbett.

Methodist Missionary Drowned.

Bardonia, Sept. 30.—(Special.)—The Rev. F. M. Hill, state Methodist missionary, and bride were drowned in Chaplin river, this county, while trying to ford the stream.

News has reached the city of the death of J. A. Wilson, a prominent merchant of Whiteville, Tenn., who died at his home yesterday. He was buried at Bolivia, Tenn., this morning. He is survived by Mrs. G. W. Wilson, of Clinton, Mrs. H. W. Gieves, of Paducah, and J. A. Wilson, Jr., of Bolivia, his children. They were at his bedside when he breathed his last.

"Laboring men for Bryan" in stead of "union men."

Bryan to Fight for New York.

New York, Sept. 30.—Chairman Mack announced that Bryan, Kern and Senators Gore, of Oklahoma; Bacon, of Georgia; Daniel, of Virginia, and Rayner, of Maryland, will tour New York late in October. The Democrats' purpose is to make a desperate effort to win the Empire state. It is probable the tours will be extended to Delaware, Rhode Island and Connecticut. All speakers will give great attention to state issues with the hope of defeating Hughes. The itineraries have not yet been announced.

Dr. Sears Improves

POSTMASTER SHOOTS DOWN P. O. INSPECTOR

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 30.—Post-office Inspector Chas. Fitzgerald, of this city, was shot and killed by W. A. Sorsby, clerk in the Clinton post-office.

Fitzgerald was brought to Jackson on the first train and carried to the sanitarium, where he died at 9:30 last night. Sorsby's bullet had entered the side just above the hip bone.

Fitzgerald had been to Clinton two days checking up that office, of which Mrs. Cabiness is the postmistress. Sorsby married her daughter and had been running the office. Fitzgerald checked him up short several hundred dollars and had started back to his home in Jackson. While on his way to the train and on the depot steps, carrying a grip in each hand, Sorsby appeared suddenly before him, stuck a pistol to his side and fired before his victim could raise his hand or utter a protest. He had been in the service thirty years.

Charles Fitzgerald was a native of this city, where he was born forty-nine years ago and where he has since lived. He leaves two brothers, E. A. Fitzgerald, of Vicksburg, and Will H. of Rosedale, also his wife, three daughters and two sons and a number of near relatives here and elsewhere throughout the south.

SPLENDID TICKET WAS NAMED FOR THE CITY OFFICES

Men Representing Best Interests of City Named for Aldermen and Council.

Wade Brown Easily Wins Jailor Nomination.

A. R. GROUSE FOR TREASURER

THE TICKET.

Aldermen—W. T. Miller, H. S. Wells, Finis Lack, U. S. Walston and B. W. Cornelson.

Councilmen—First ward, John W. Bebout; second ward, Mike Williams; third ward, C. M. Riker; fourth ward, J. L. Wanner; fifth ward, T. E. Ford; sixth ward, R. S. Barnett.

City Treasurer—A. R. Grouse. City Jailor—Wade Brown.

In the crowded council chamber at the city hall last night the Republican party made nominations for city offices that will be filed at the election November 3. It was a business-like session and lacked that noise and confusion that have marked political gatherings. The delegates considered that their job was a serious one and considered capable men, as the ticket shows that to make a better one could not be made. All of the men are thoroughly reliable in every walk of life and have the interest of Paducah at heart.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. E. E. Bell and H. C. Hoover was appointed temporary secretary. After all the credentials had been handed in Mr. Bell gave way to the election of a permanent chairman. Alderman W. T. Miller was nominated and elected unanimously. Mr. H. C. Hoover was elected secretary. Frequent calls for speeches were made, but Chairman Miller stated that it was a business meeting and that it should be considered seriously. On motion Chairman Miller appointed a nomination committee of five members: Frank M. Fisher, J. M. Dunaway, Gus Hank, David Browning and Grandison Reeves. Mr. Browning begged to be excused from the committee, as he is a new comer to the city, but the members thought it was better that Mr. Browning should become acquainted with Paducah's citizens and he accepted the honor as a member of the committee.

After the ticket had been arranged the committee reported, and it was decided to vote for the ticket as a whole unless there were other names nominated for the same place, when the contested office should be settled by separate ballot. The ticket proved satisfactory to everyone present.

Report of Nominations. The report of the committee read: "We, your committee on nominations, beg leave to submit the following nominations:

"Aldermen—W. T. Miller, H. S. Wells, F. E. Lack, U. S. Walston and B. W. Cornelson.

"Councilmen—First ward, J. W. Bebout; second ward, Mike Williams; third ward, C. M. Riker; fourth ward, J. L. Wanner; fifth ward, T. E. Ford; sixth ward, R. S. Barnett.

"We recommend that the nominations for the school board be left to the city Republican committee with power to nominate a ticket or not to nominate a ticket and certify it to the proper officials with power to act or be placed on the ballot under the log cabin.

"Frank M. Fisher, J. M. Dunaway, Gus Hank, David Browning and Grandison Reeves."

The failure of the Republican party to nominate or endorse a ticket for school trustees shows that the party is favorable for the public school to be removed from the hands of politicians. Should a non-partisan ticket not be nominated the Republicans will elect a ticket.

Candidate Named for Treasurer. The committee failed to make a nomination for city treasurer, the office now held by Col. John J. Dorian and will be contested by the Democrats on the ground that Mr. Dorian is ineligible to hold the office, as the attorney general has so decided, but to eliminate a long and expensive battle in the courts he made the motion that Mr. A. R. Grouse be nominated as city treasurer. The motion carried unanimously. Mr. Grouse is a young man popular with the citizens and thoroughly capable of conducting the affairs of the office. As explained by Mr. Fisher the nomination of Mr. Grouse, who had agreed that

GREATEST CIRCUS COMES TO TOWN

Streets Thronged With People From City and County.

Great Parade Witnessed By Thousands.

PERFORMANCE THIS AFTERNOON

When Ringling Brothers' gladiatorial calloped "Gee Whiz, I'm Glad I'm Free" on the streets this forenoon fifteen or twenty thousand spectators stood on the curb stones and cried, "Welcome to our city" to the elephants. It was the finest circus parade that has been gotten off the front steps and the sidewalks for an age.

The first thing to dazzle the eyes was the band wagon in the lead with its team of twenty-four white horses. Dotted here and there down the rest of the line were other bands, organs, chimes and orchestras. One immense tableau was drawn by a team of twenty camels; a tiny menagerie cage, highly decorated, rolled along behind a team of twenty-four ponies, and many high-stepping thoroughbreds were driven in tandem. In all there were 651 horses.

Some of the menagerie cages were closed and many were open, displaying all sorts of creatures from jungle and forest. Numerous nations were represented by all kinds of strange people from the low-browed savage of the Australian bush to the sylph-like maiden of the Turkish harem; paint-smearing warriors, desert tribesmen, Persian court women, knights and brigands.

The feature of the animal collection this season is Darwin, the missing link, named, of course, after the man who predicted him. The honor of the animal's capture belongs to Prof. Gabriel Klotz, who discovered it in the wilds of India. Gordia or ape, or whatever he may be, the animal is certainly entitled to consideration as the next to the last link in the Darwinian chain.

He has a high intellectual forehead. He is a little shy on nose, but makes up that deficit in a well-shaped head and frontal bone. He uses his hands as well as a man does. He utters guttural sounds which the head animal keeper says is the ape language. Already, without coaching, the animal has adopted the use of a chair and handles a knife and fork aptly. It drinks from a bottle and prefers to sleep in a bed as a man does.

Many Visitors in Town.
Every train that stopped at the Union station today was crowded to the platforms, and all because it was circus day. The trains arriving last night had an extra number of passengers and all trains up to non had standing room above par. The largest crowd was brought in from Ballard county on the early morning train from Cairo. The baggage car, smoker two regular cars and the sleeper were crowded with passengers and some few hung on by the handles with their feet on the steps. In order that the conductor might collect the fares the train was pulled along at slow speed. At Eleventh street and Broadway the passengers were unloaded and the train was ten minutes late at the Union station, all because of the large number of passengers. Exactly 718 fares were collected on the train on the trip this morning. Extra coaches will be added for the return trip this evening.

Broadway was crowded with country people and children. As early as 4 o'clock this morning the farm wagons with families began to arrive, and the people were out on the street by 7 o'clock. When the parade passed Broadway was congested. The Mayfield trains contributed to the crowd and the boats all arrived with the decks full of passengers.

GOING AFTER THE COAL TRUST.
Brief Hearing Held in Philadelphia Federal Building.

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—A brief hearing was held in the federal building here by Examiner Charles H. Gilbert in the suit of the United States government to dissolve the alleged trust in the anthracite coal industry. The session was taken up entirely with the submission of statements asked for by the government at the hearing held last May. These papers consisted principally of descriptions of the property owned by the defendants in the suit, lists of stockholders, area of coal lands and historical and geological statements relating to the hard coal fields. The government's case was conducted by James McReynolds and G. Carroll Todd, while the interests of the defendants were taken care of by their respective legal staffs. The next hearing will be held in New York on October 7.

CLEAR THE COMPLEXION OVERNIGHT.

Pimples, Itch, Eruptions, Etc., Quickly Eradicated by New Skin Remedy.

Since its discovery one year ago, poslam, the new skin remedy, has, in its extraordinary accomplishments, exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the eminent specialist who gave it to the world. It has cured thousands of cases of eczema and eradicated facial and other disfigurements of years' standing. The terrible itching attending eczema is stopped by the first application, giving proof of its curative properties at the very outset.

In less serious skin affections, such as pimples, rash, herpes, blackheads, acne, barber's itch, etc., results show after an overnight application, only a small quantity being required to effect a cure. Those who use poslam for these minor skin troubles can now avail themselves of the special 50-cent package, recently adopted to meet such needs. Both the 50-cent package and the regular $2 jar may now be obtained in Paducah at Gilbert's and other leading drug stores.

Samples for experimental purposes may be had free of charge by writing direct to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

WRIGHT MAKES THREE FLIGHTS

American Twice Carries Passengers in Tests at Le Mans, France.

Le Mans, Sept. 30.—Wilbur Wright made three successful flights Sunday. On the first flight he was unaccompanied, and remained in the air 1 hour, 7 minutes, 11 4-5 seconds, covering about 30 miles.

On the second flight he was accompanied by the aviator, Lieut. T. E. Lambert, and he succeeded in beating the record for flight with passenger by remaining up 11 minutes 3 2-5 seconds. His previous flight with a passenger was made on Friday last, when he remained in the air 9 minutes 13 1-5 seconds at a height of 50 feet. Count de Lambert was his passenger on the third trip.

Washington, Sept. 30.—To give Orville Wright time to recover from the injuries he received in the accident to his airplane at Fort Myer recently, the Wright brothers have made application to the signal corps for an extension of nine months, or until June 28 next, in which to make the official tests of their machine. The application has been referred to Secretary Wright with the recommendation that it be approved.

LINKS TAFT, BRYAN AND DUKE.
Farmers' Congress Elects Candidates and Noble Honorary Members.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 30.—Judge Taft, William J. Bryan and the duke of Devonshire were elected honorary members of the Farmers' National Congress at the annual meeting of that organization. John M. Stahl, of Chicago, was re-elected legislative agent and Levi Morrison, of Greenville, Pa., was chosen a member of the board of trustees for three years. In the resolutions adopted the congress goes on record as favoring federal improvement of all practical water ways and prohibition of manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Paducah women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Paducah woman's words:

Mr. Walter Mathews, 1250 North Thirteenth street, Paducah, Ky., says: "I used the contents of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and they did more to relieve me of a lame back and pain in my left side than all else I ever used. Before taking them I suffered intensely from pains in my back and sides, at times was hardly able to do my housework. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended and procured a box at DuBois, Son & Co.'s drug store. I took them as directed and was more than pleased with the results."

India's Precious Metals.

It is estimated that $1,500,000,000 in gold, and perhaps as much in silver, is hidden away in the Hindu stockpiles. Vast quantities of the precious metals are known to be kept in the form of personal ornaments. From time immemorial India has been a reservoir into which the precious metals have flowed from all quarters of the globe, only to disappear from statistics. Could the idle wealth be drawn upon, the effect of the industrial and commercial life of the country would be very great. It is, therefore, a matter of concern to try to turn India's dormant capital to active use. It may be impossible to do it. The Oriental mind views everything in a way incomprehensible to Westerners. But if only a tithe of the concealed hoards of India were vitalized a new aspect might be given to the conditions of life in England's great Eastern Empire.—Baltimore Sun.

Long Lived People in the South.

While it may be true that the white man loses in intellectual and bodily power in the tropics, Dr. Luigi Sambon maintains, as a result of recent researches, that the average Arab lives twenty-five years longer, than the average Esquimaux; that the coast people of South America are longer lived than the mountain people; that old age is much commoner in the southern countries of Europe than in the northern countries, and that Spain (with a population smaller by 8,000,000) has 401 centenarians to England's 146.—Army and Navy Journal.

LETTERS STOLEN SAYS ARCHBOLD

New Phase of Standard Oil Correspondence Sprung by Hearst

Says That Copy Books Were Stolen and Returned Minus Several Pages.

DETAILS ARE MADE KNOWN

New York, Sept. 30.—A new phase of the discussion of the so-called "Standard Oil correspondence," made public recently by William R. Hearst, was entered upon late yesterday when John D. Archbold, vice-president of the Standard Oil company, made a statement setting forth the details of the alleged theft of correspondence from his files.

Former United States Senator John Lowndes McLaurin, of South Carolina also entered the field with signed statements declaring his attitude in the matter of the correspondence between himself and Archbold.

Archbold says that three years ago it was reported that certain of his letters, allegedly stolen, had been offered for sale to the newspapers.

These letters could have been taken only by some highly trusted person. One suspect stoutly denied his guilt, but later a go-between offered to return some of the letters for a consideration.

It was said by this person that his brother had induced a trusted employee, already suspected, to steal them, and that some had been sold to a representative of Hearst's paper.

Copybooks were also stolen, according to Archbold, some of the pages removed and others photographed. Some of the correspondence was returned at that time, and the other letters have been produced by Hearst.

Senator McLaurin says that he has no apologies to make for his correspondence with Archbold. He says he was then engaged in a bitter struggle which involved his own political future and the principles for which he stood, and he saw no impropriety in "enlisting the assistance of the most progressively administered and the most intelligently officed corporation that human intelligence has yet produced."

Until the running of political campaigns without money can be achieved he sees no reason why he should refuse to seek and accept the support he needed.

OMITTED THIS YEAR'S WORK.

President Is Reminded of More Than Has Been Accomplished.

Washington, Sept. 30.—President Roosevelt today made public a letter from the interstate commerce commission pointing out that the president in his last reply to Wm. J. Bryan did not include the present year's work in his reference to prosecutions under the interstate commerce law, and saying the facts are even more impressive than the reply showed. The letter which was from John H. Marble, attorney of the commission, gives a list of ten railroad companies against which indictments have been found this year and five shippers indicted for receiving rebates. It also cites several traffic officials against whom indictments have been returned and several instances where corporations have been convicted of giving or receiving rebates.

Before the Rain.

Clouds are dusky and still.
Nature's waiting for the rain;
Birds have ceased their song until
They can feel the sun again.
Trees are waiting, patient too,
Hushed and silent as they stand,
Till the breeze comes sailing through Fresh'ning all the weary land.

Water's rippling like a song
Where the willows bend above,
Gently coaxing it along
With a tender mother-love.
The long grasses lift and sway
To the music's mystic flow
In a dance of selfish play
Mirrored in the stream below.

Sentinel poplars, straight and tall,
Upward turn their shining leaves
And the tree-toads scrape and call
In a tune that oddly grieves.
There's a brooding tenderness
That's so sweet it starts a pain
Yearning through and through your breast.

Then—here comes the driving rain.

ANDREW MELOAN

DIES AT HOME AT MURRAY OF TYPHOID FEVER.

Was Noted as Violin Player and Successful Horseman, Though Blind Since Boyhood.

Murray, Ky., Sept. 30.—The burial and funeral of Andrew M. Melon, aged 73, was conducted at the city cemetery yesterday morning.

Mr. Melon was one of the oldest citizens of Murray and though blind for 60 years he was remarkably active and was in splendid health until four weeks ago when he became ill of typhoid fever from which he died. He possessed a remarkable memory and was well informed on the political and military history of the United States and could give dates of important happenings readily. He gained fame in western Kentucky as a violin player and the money he earned from this source formed the nucleus of a small fortune. He was also a successful horse raiser, and notwithstanding his blindness, was considered the best judge of horseflesh in the county.

Andrew Melon was the son of Major Obadiah Melon, who served with distinction in the war with Mexico and was under General Richard P. Johnston in the Indian wars, being a survivor of the River Raisin massacre.

He leaves one sister, Mrs. A. H. Wear, of Murray, and a large number of nieces and nephews, among whom are John Melon, of the Paris, Tenn., Parliam; Perry Melon, of The Paducah Sun; J. V. Wear, of the Benton Tribune, and W. O. Wear, of the Murray Times.

NOVEL SCHEME.

Congressman Sherman Goes Campaigning in Trolley Car.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—A somewhat novel campaign speech-making tour by trolley through many Illinois towns was begun by James S. Sherman, Republican vice-presidential nominee, who left here for Watseka, Ill., where he delivered an address.

With Mr. Sherman's party was Congressman Nicholas Longworth, who will also make speeches at the various stops. Mr. Longworth joined the party in Chicago and expects to remain with Mr. Sherman as long he stays in Illinois.

From Watseka the party went to Danville, Speaker Joseph G. Cannon's home, for an evening meeting. It was said in political circles that Mr.

Sherman's trip to Speaker Cannon's district was being made for the express purpose of aiding the speaker's re-election. After the Danville meeting Congressman Wm. B. McKinley will place at the disposal of Mr. Sherman a private car which will carry the campaigning party over various trolley lines connecting Champaign, Monticello and other towns. From the rear platform of the trolley car Mr. Sherman will make short speeches at cross roads and in rural communities in an appeal for the farmer vote.

Following the Illinois and Indiana itinerary it is now definitely arranged that the candidate will speak in Toledo and Bryan, O., October 6; in Piqua and Columbus, October 7, and in Mansfield and Akron, October 8.

Mr. Sherman will return to his home in Utica October 10. It was learned today that the Republican national campaign managers are anxious to have Mr. Sherman make a second trip through the west and it is practically settled that he will appear in St. Louis October 11 and make a number of addresses in Missouri. Following that he will speak in a number of towns in Maryland and Delaware, carrying the campaign into the east.

South African Hail Storm.

With the breaking of the day I went outside. The country was unrecognizable. The land and the scenery which I had known for years were entirely altered. The very hills piled high with white hailstones, were a different shape and torrents of muddy water poured down from all sides. And when the red sun rose into a clear bright sky the scene of ruin and desolation was awful to look at.

Buildings had been hurled to the ground and were nothing more than hills of hailstones. A large dam I had spent two years in making had been completely swept away. In another dam, which had remained unbroken, the hailstones had accumulated and piled themselves up over twenty feet in height! There was not a sign of water in this huge dam, just a huge dam of frozen hailstones.

Daily Thought.

You may choose to play your part
well or badly, but you do not choose your part.—Epictetus.

All that is left for Bryan to do is to write a nice letter about himself
in answer to the Roosevelt letter to Taft.

Mr. Bryan shows what an unconscious humorist he is when he tells Judge Taft, after the latter has been so long in the public service, to go
and make a record for himself.

Bryan's friends say 16 to 1 is a dead issue. The same will be said of the man who invented it after November 3.

From the rapidity and style of Judge Taft's answers, it is not likely that Bryan will invite him to speak
any more.

In reply to the Roosevelt letter,
Bryan attacks the Roosevelt policies.
And yet he claims to have originated
most of them.

GOMPERS' MAN FOR TAFT.

Evidence is plentiful that the effect
of Gompers' attempt to influence labor for Bryan is not very productive of results. When the time comes to vote union labor men will be found exercising independence of action.
Those that are employed will vote to have that employment continued, and those that are out of employment will vote for the man most likely to give it to him. Is there any one who sincerely believes that the chances for the return of good times would be as good if Bryan is elected as they would be under Taft?

A fresh illustration in point occurred at the noonday meeting in New York of the Commercial Travelers' Republican association. John W.
Armstrong, an organizer for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who was sent to Maine by President Gompers to make speeches
for the Democratic state ticket, came out for Taft and Sherman. In his speech he said:

"The men whom I have met and conversed with in the American Federation of Labor are, as a rule, of the opinion that it would be unwise to support Mr. Bryan. The election of Mr. Taft means the resumption of business upon safe and sound lines.
I have an abiding faith in the intelligence and loyalty of the working men to vote for Mr. Taft and the party and principles that made it possible
for our workingman to occupy the eminent position he does, as compared with the position occupied by the unfortunate brother in the Democratic south, where the Democratic party has opposed the enactment of factory laws, child labor laws and the organization of workmen."

THE REPUBLICAN CITY NOMINEES.

The Republican convention last night selected an admirable ticket
for the councilman's boards, one for which the party should be proud to stand sponsor. All of the men are gentlemen of ability and experience
and successful in their own businesses. Many of them have served on the boards at different times, before. W. T. Miller, H. S. Wells, F.
E. Lack, U. S. Walston and E. W.
Corbillion are the nominees for aldermen, and J. W. Behout, Mike Wil-

took no action upon school board nominees, pending the action to be taken by the non-partisan nominating committee, but expressed sympathy
with the movement to eliminate politics from the board.

E. T. FRANKS GIVEN OVATION AT MURRAY

Murray, Ky., Sept. 30. (Special).—
A great ovation was given E. T.
Franks at the close of his speech here
yesterday in the interest of the Republican ticket, hundreds of men of all political parties gathering around him and showered congratulations,
many embracing the speaker.

The first half of Mr. Franks' address was a political speech but the latter part was devoted entirely to a discussion of the night rider troubles
which he handled fearlessly and without reserve. With a full measure of praise for Judge Wells and other county officials who have done their duty he in turn made the most scathing denunciation of the officials of Trigg and other counties whom he declared should be impeached.

Franks was heard by about 300
voters which was remarkably large
because of it being the next day after county court and the fact that the farmers were busy harvesting
their late crops for fear of frost that night.

Mr. Franks is speaking at Benton
this afternoon.

P. O. SUB STATION IN MECHANICSBURG OPEN TOMORROW

Tomorrow Paducah may boast of her first postoffice sub-station. The new sub-station will be established in Farley's store in Mechanicsburg with Ed Ross as the clerk in charge.
All of the citizens in Mechanicsburg
and the southern part of the city
will have an opportunity to buy money orders, register valuable letters,
mail letters and purchase stamps
without a long walk or ride to the postoffice. No mail will be delivered from the office as the regular postoffice will still remain the distributing center. The sub-station was secured through the efforts of Postmaster Frank Fisher, and is one more step towards Paducah's growing postoffice.

MURDER

CHARGE BROUGHT AGAINST W. A. POWELL.

Serious Charge Resulting From Shooting of Oscar Pritchett Two Weeks Ago.

Following the verdict of the coroner's jury over the body of Oscar Pritchett, colored, who was shot through the right lung by W. A. Powell and later died, a warrant was issued for murder against W. A. Powell. Powell gave $1,000 bond and was released from custody. The coroner's jury failed to state whether the killing was justifiable or not, as the members could not agree, and for a thorough investigation the warrant was issued. There are many witnesses in the case. Powell is a collector for the Universal Supply company. In addition to the warrant for murder there is one for malicious shooting and wounding, as in the same difficulty with Oscar Pritchett
he shot Major Pritchett in the scalp.
A third warrant against him is for insulting language, as a colored woman
alleges that Powell cursed her.
The trials of all the warrants are scheduled for October 3.

Shot a Woman and Her Child.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 30.—On the charge of night riding, DeHansbor-ough, Henry Presson, A. W. Henry, Louise Henry and Sammie Henry
were arrested at Carrollton, Miss. It is alleged they went to the home of Tom Joudon, shot his child and his wife, left a bundle of switches and a threatening note.

But the eyes of the three conspirators were fixed on Armitage. It was his life they sought. The others did not greatly matter. And so John Ar-mitage rode across the little plain where the lost legion had camped for a year
at the end of a great war, and as he rode on the defenders of the bowlder
barriade saw his white face and noted
the useless arm hanging and swaying and felt in spite of themselves the strength of his tall, erect figure.

Chauvenet, watching the silent rider,
said aloud, speaking in German, "It was Zmai understood."

"It is in the blood. He is like a king."

But they could not bear the words
that John Armitage kept saying over and over again as he crossed the field:
"He made me do something for Austria for Austria!"

"He is brave, but he is a great fool.
When he turns his horse we will fire
on him," said Zmai.

Their eyes were upon Armitage, and
in their intensity they failed to note
the increasing pace of Oscar's horse
which was spurring slowly ahead.
When they saw that he would fire
make the sweep which they assumed

With a great crash the horse struck the wall.

to be the contemplated strategy of the charging party they leveled their arms
at him, believing that he must soon
check his horse. But on he rode, bending forward a little, his rifle held across the saddle in front of him.

"Take him first," cried Chauvenet.
"Then be ready for Armitage!"

Oscar was now turning his horse, but toward them and across Armitage's path, with the deliberate purpose of taking the first fire. Before him rose the cedars that concealed the line of wall, and he saw the blue barrels of the waiting rifles. With a great spurt of speed he cut in ahead of Armitage swiftly and neatly; then on, without a break or pause—not heeding Armitage's cries—on and still on, till twenty feet lay between him and the wall,
at a place where the cedar barrier
was thinnest. Then, as his horse crouched and rose, three rifles cracked
as one. With a great crash the horse struck the wall and tumbled, rearing and plunging, through the tough cedar boughs. An instant later, near the same spot, Armitage, with better luck clearing the wall, was borne on through the confused line. When he flung himself down and ran back Cal-
borne had not yet appeared.

Oscar had crashed through at a point
held by Durand, who was struck down by the horse's feet. He lay howling with pain, with the hind quarters of the prostrate beast across his legs. Armitage, running back toward the wall, kicked the revolver from his hand and left him. Zmai had started to run as Oscar gained the wall, and Chauvenet's curses did not halt
him.

Servian when he found Oscar at his heels.

Chauvenet stood impassively by the wall, his revolver raised and covering Armitage, who walked slowly and doggedly toward him. The pallor in Armitage's face gave him an unearthly look.
He appeared to be trying to force himself to a pace of which his wavering limbs were incapable. At the moment that Calborne sprang upon the wall behind Chauvenet Armitage swayed
and stumbled, then swayed from side to side like a drunken man. His right arm swung limp at his side, and his revolver remained undrawn in his belt.
His gray felt hat was twitched to one side of his head, adding a grotesque touch to the impression of drunkenness, and he was talking aloud:

"Shoot me, Mr. Chauvenet. Go on and shoot me. I am John Armitage, and I live in Montana, where real people are. Go on and shoot! Winkried's in jail, and the jig's up, and the empire and the silly king are safe. Go on and shoot, I tell you!"

He had stumbled on until he was within a dozen steps of Chauvenet,

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you?
Or, do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people
now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine.
Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. So he publishes, broadcast and on each bottle
—rapper, what his medicines are made of
and verifies it by analysis. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more
the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues
be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements,
giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, oftentimes, with a debilitating,
pelvic, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy.
It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming,
thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular.
It is also a soothing and invigorating
nervine and cures nervous exhaustion,
nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria,
spasms, dizziness, nervousness, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic disorders of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which Favorite Prescription is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card
request for a free booklet of extracts
from the leading authorities, to Dr. R. V.
Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

who lifted his revolver until it covered Armitage's head.

"Drop that gun! Drop it quick!" And Dick Calborne swung the butt of his rifle high and brought it down with a crash on Chauvenet's head; then Armitage paused and glanced about and laughed.

It was Calborne who freed Durand
from the dead horse, which had received the shots fired at Oscar the moment he rose at the wall. The fight was quite knocked out of the conspira-
tor, and he swore under his breath,
cursing the unconscious Chauvenet and the missing Zmai and the ill fortune of the fight.

"It's all over but the shouting.
What's next?" demanded Calborne.

"The him up and tie the other one up," said Armitage, staring about queerly. "Where the devil is Oscar?"

"He's after the big fellow. You're badly fussed, old man. We've got to get out of this and fix you up."

"I'm all right. I've got a hole in my shoulder that feels as big and hot as a blast furnace. But we've got them
nailed, and it's all right, old man."

Durand continued to curse these visible and invisible as he rubbed his leg
while Calborne watched him impatiently.

"If you start to run, I'll certainly kill
you, monseigneur."

"We have met, my dear sir, under unfortunate circumstances. You should not take it too much to heart about the potato sack. It was the fault of my dear colleagues. Ah, Armitage, you look rather ill, but I trust you will harbor no harsh feelings."

CARTER CUTS OFF SON.

Loyalty to Actress-Mother Loses
Fortune to Youth.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—L. D. Carter, son of the late Leslie Carter, former resident of the South Side elevated railroad, was cut off without a penny
in the will of his father, which was probated yesterday.

"I leave nothing to my son, Leslie Dudley Carter, for the reason that he has left the home which I maintained for him without cause or justification," was one paragraph in the will.

"So long as he remains under his mother's influence, I do not desire either directly or indirectly to aid him," the will continues. "If he comes to understand the serious nature of his error and separates himself from his mother, I do not object to my brother and sister or either of them acting freely on his or her own judgment, treating him as I would have gladly done if he had been loyal and dutiful toward me."

In the will, which disposes of an estate valued at $175,000, Mr. Carter appoints his sister, Helen Leslie Carter, and Charles E. Ling, both of Chicago, as executors. He bequeaths his entire fortune equally to his brother, Ernest, of New York, and his sister, Helen.

The son announced his intention of contesting the will.

Dallas Campbell, of R. F. D. 4, Bells,
Tenn., formerly Miss Lillie Etney West, of this county, has just been

father in Indiana, from whom she was separated when quite young, is about to die and wanted to know her where

session of two legacies, which will make her independent.

VACCINATION FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Dr. Julius Bartel Arouses
Tuberculosis Congress.

Says Antitoxins Have Been Successfully
Immunized By His Wonderful Discovery.

COST OF THE WHITE PLAGUE

Washington, Sept. 30.—The treatment of tuberculosis will be revolutionized if the suggestions of Dr.
Julius Bartel, a delegate to the international tuberculosis congress now in session in Washington, are accepted.
Dr. Bartel proposes vaccination against tuberculosis just as vaccination
is now used as a preventive against smallpox. His theory is meeting with a great deal of attention
here, and many of the scientists have declared themselves in sympathy with his views. Were his theory put into practice it would mean that every school child would be forced to undergo a double vaccination, one against smallpox and the other against tuberculosis, the two dread diseases
pests of humanity. Dr. Bartel claims that animals have been successfully immunized against infection.

It is said that with the aid of various organs it is possible to render living tubercle bacilli harmless by confining them some time within the organs at a temperature of 38 degrees.
Any attempt to utilize this action of the tissues of organs on the tubercle bacilli as the basis of immunization against tuberculosis will therefore prove successful.

Fearful Price Paid.

That tuberculosis in the United States is paid for at the fearful rate
of 138,000 lives a year and an estimated money cost of over one billion dollars a year, was set forth in startling figures by Prof. Irving Fisher, of Yale college, in the congress yesterday. He said that the consumption blight was hanging over the heads of five million American citizens unless means were taken to prevent the scourge. Continuing, Prof. Fisher said:

"This is equal to the deaths from typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, appendicitis, meningitis, diabetes, smallpox and cancer, all put together. Then again, it generally takes three years to die, during which time the poor victim can earn little or nothing. Finally the scourge picks out its victims when they are young men and young women, at the very time they are beginning to earn money. The minimum cost of such items as doctors' bills, medicines,
nursing and loss of earnings before death amounts to about $2,400 in each case, while the earning power which might have been if death had not come brings the total cost to at least $8,000. If this is multiplied by the 138,000 deaths, we find the cost is bigger than the almost incalculable
sum of the billion dollars."

Millions More Doomed.

Professor Fisher estimated that over half of this cost generally falls
on the backs of the victims themselves,
but the cost of others than the consumptive is $140,000,000 yearly. As a matter of self-defense it would be worth while to the community, he shows, in order to save merely a quarter of the lives now lost by consumption, to invest $5,000,000,000.
At present only a fraction of 1 per cent of this money is being used to fight the disease.

Professor Fisher confined his paper to showing the cost in actual money, but pointed out that the cost
in broken hearts and disappointment,
which can not be measured in money,
was much more important. Five million people now living in the United States are doomed to fill consump-tives' graves unless something is done to prevent it. As each death means anxiety and grief for a whole family,
he estimated that there will be over 20,000,000 persons rendered miserable by these deaths.

The subject of "Tuberculosis as an Industrial Disease" was discussed at length by Frederick Hoffman, statistician of the Prudential Insurance company. Mr. Hoffman emphasized the degree of tuberculosis in dusty trades.

Dust Devil Exposed.
He presented a new occupation
classification by kind of dust exposure,
grouping the different employment
considered in detail into such as exposed workers to the continuous inhalation of metallic dust, mineral dust, vegetable fiber dust, animal and mixed fiber dust, general organic dust. Some thirty specific occupations were considered in detail, including practically all of the more important industries and trades.

In conclusion the speaker dwelt upon the problem of tuberculosis prevention as a labor question, bringing out in startling contrast the needless waste of life in American industry.
Summarizing his remarks, Mr. Hoffman said:

"It is not going too far to advance
it as a fundamental principle of sanitary legislation that the consumption
death rate among male wage earners
can be reduced by intelligent methods to almost 1.5 per 1,000. If such a reduction should result there would be an annual saving of 28,000 human lives."

is wrong with the process of making and that some flavor-destroying element is present in greater or smaller quantities.

gives you the Real Flavor from your coffee. The filtering principle is entirely eliminated, making the coffee always the same—always delicious, clear and fragrant. The hot water is forced up through the central tube by the automatic striding process and filtering through the grounds extracts all the good of the coffee, leaving the tannic
acid and bitter properties in the grounds above the liquid. Use one-third less coffee than by other methods, for there is no waste.

University Act in Effect.

Dublin, Sept. 30.—The Irish Gazette contains a proclamation bringing into the new university act into operation tomorrow. The central idea of this measure is the establishment of two new universities in Ireland, with headquarters at Dublin and Belfast. The new Dublin college under national control will be organized immediately. The college starts with a foundation revenue of $2,100,000 a year and money contributed by the local councils will add a considerable amount to this. The funds for the equipment of buildings are insufficient and probably will have to be supplemented by a national effort.

Keep thoroughly posted during the campaign by reading the Chicago Record-Herald or Tribune.

BUY SERMONS

CLERGYMEN MAY PURCHASE THEM FOR 25 CENTS EACH.

New York Publishing Company Sends Out Circulars to New England Ministers.

New York, Sept. 30.—For 25 cents a week, or $10 a year, clergymen may now obtain sermons from 2,200 to 2,500 words in length and described by the seller as being "strictly up to date and containing no illusions to current affairs and matters of national interest."

Clergymen in Manhattan have received letters addressed "Dear Brother," and circulars containing sample excerpts from the sermons which are for sale. The concern which offers this sermon service for 25 cents a week, or six months for $5, is the "homiletic department of a publishing house which has offices in the downtown district.

No patron, says the circular to clergymen, need fear an accusation of plagiarism. We sell the clergymen our work and he has a right to use what he purchases as seems best to him. The sermons are mailed in New York every Friday morning in plain sealed envelopes. They are evangelic in tone. They enable the clergyman to get along with fewer homiletic books and magazines, and the terms put this unique service within the reach of the poorest ministers. We shall not furnish our service to more than one minister in any given city or town.

The circular states that the sermons are prepared by a pastor in active service who understands the grind of the average pastor in the direction of sermon making and who has special ability as a writer of good sermons.

WILD GOATS IN HAWAII.

Destroy Young Trees—Hunting Animals Popular Diversion.

The wild goat of Hawaii has in recent years become a serious menace to agriculture in various parts of the territory. Secure among the almost inaccessible cliffs of the mountains, thousands of these nimble animals find a congenial home, and although no systematic efforts have as yet been inaugurated for exterminating them, they are nevertheless extremely wary and difficult to approach.

All of the islands in the group have large areas of extremely broken and rugged mountain country, of no value except for the watersheds they afford, but this is of the greatest importance. Although the rainfall on the windward sides of the island is very heavy, in some instances ranging as high as twenty or thirty inches a month, the lee sides in many cases get almost no rain at all, all the moisture being wrung from the steady northeast trade winds by the chill of the high altitude of the great volcanic ranges over which they pass.

These dry districts in many instances have splendid soils, and extensive irrigation systems have been built to carry the water from the wet sides of the mountains in order that they may be cultivated. But owing to the precipitous nature of the mountains and the porous character of the volcanic formations, without a good covering of forest growth to hold the rain the greater part of it runs off the ocean in foaming torrents almost as fast as it is precipitated.

The territorial government is doing much in the way of forest planting and in the encouragement of forestry; but its work has in some instances at least been undone by the wild goats and cattle. Not only do the goats destroy the foliage of the smaller vegetation, but when this supply falls short they dig out and eat the tender roots.

Goat hunting is a popular diversion in some parts of the territory and as a sport is by no means to be despised. Although the animals are numerous, it requires some hard tramping and climbing to get to their haunts, and then a true aim and good eye for distance in order to have much success. Occasionally parties are organized and a week or more spent in goat shooting, with the result that sometimes several hundred are slaughtered.—Honolulu Correspondence Forest and Stream.

OHIO LEADS ALL THE STATES IN POTTERY PRODUCTS

Ohio was the leading pottery producing state, with wares valued at $12,533,199, or 44.90 per cent of the total. This is a decrease of $457,160, or 3.27 per cent, from the value of the wares in 1906, which was $13,990,359, or 44.50 per cent of the total. In 1905 the value of the Ohio wares was $13,024,071, or 46.65 per cent of the total.

New Jersey was second in rank in 1907, with wares valued at $6,985,626, or 23.18 per cent of the total, as compared with a value of $7,282,658, or 23.16 per cent of the total, for wares produced in 1906.

West Virginia, fifth in rank in 1906, passed both New York and Pennsylvania and became third in 1907, with wares valued at $2,159,132, or 7.16 per cent of the total, as compared with wares valued at $1,588,555, or 5.95 per cent of the total, in 1906—an increase in 1907 of $570,577, or 35.92 per cent.

New York was fourth in both 1906 and 1907, the value of the product in the latter year being $1,934,498, a gain of $66,151, or 3.54 per cent.

Pennsylvania, which was third in 1906, with wares valued at $2,410,817, was fifth in 1907, the value of the wares decreasing to $1,309,878, a loss of $1,100,939, or 45.67 per cent.

Great Pottery Centers.

The two leading pottery states—New Jersey and Ohio—produced in 1907 more than 68 per cent of the pottery of the entire country. In New Jersey 93.32 per cent of the total for the State was made in Trenton; in Ohio the great pottery center is East Liverpool, but its proportion of the state's total in 1907 was much less than that of Trenton, being but 42.33 per cent. In 1906 these cities produced, respectively, 93.25 per cent and 43.98 per cent of the state totals. Together the two cities produced 40.63 per cent of the value of the pottery for the whole country in 1907, Trenton contributing 21.63 per cent and East Liverpool 19 per cent.

Value of Products of Different Classes.

The wares known as "C. C." "white granite," "semiporcelain," and "semivitreous porcelain," representing the general household wares and composing the bulk of what is known as "pottery," are from a monetary standpoint the most important pottery products of this country, their value amounting in 1907 to $13,913,630. As compared with the value of these products in 1906, this is a decrease of $238,823, or 1.69 per cent; it is, however, a gain of 5.43 per cent over the value of such wares produced in 1905. Ohio was the leading producer, reporting wares valued at $9,419,969, or 67.70 per cent of the whole. West Virginia stood second, with wares valued at $1,651,732, and New Jersey, which held second place in 1906, was third in 1907, with products valued at $1,225,691.

The most interesting of the pottery products—china, including bone china, delft, and boneless ware—showed a slight increase in value, from $1,787,776, in 1906 to $1,939,669 in 1907, a gain of 7.99 per cent. As in previous years, these products were reported from but four states, with New Jersey at the head and New York second. These states produced nearly all the china made in this country.

Red earthenware was reported from 32 states, with Massachusetts at the head, Pennsylvania second, and Ohio third in value of products. In 1906 Ohio stood first, Massachusetts second, and Pennsylvania third. The total value of this ware in 1907 was $845,465, as compared with $909,262 in 1906—a loss of $63,797, or 7.02 per cent. As compared with the value of the product in 1905, however, the 1907 value is greater by $64,828, or 8.30 per cent.

Stoneware and yellow and Rockingham wares were reported from 30 states in 1906 and from 29 in 1907, Montana dropping from the list. Ohio was the leading producer, reporting in 1907 wares valued at $1,648,213, or 38.5 per cent of the whole. Illinois was second and Pennsylvania third in both years. The total value of these products in 1907 was $4,280,601, a gain over the value in 1906 of 2.07 per cent.

Sanitary ware and products of the porcelain electric supply branches of the pottery industry, being used almost exclusively in construction, showed a decline in value as the result of the decrease in building operations. The output of sanitary ware in 1907 came from seven states, the value amounting to $4,863,222. Of this total 74.35 per cent was reported by New Jersey. Indiana was second and West Virginia third in production. The value of the porcelain electric supply products in 1907 amounted to $2,613,771—a decrease of 7.91 per cent when compared with the value of the products in 1906, but a considerable increase over the value of the products in 1905, a year of great prosperity.

Imports, Exports, and Consumption.

The pottery imports into the United States in 1907 were valued at $13,585,612 and the domestic production at $30,143,474, a total of $43,729,086. After deducting the exports (domestic, $1,131,641 and foreign $26,538), there appears to have been a net consumption of pottery products valued at $42,560,907, of which the domestic production was 70.82 per cent, as against 72.26 per cent in 1906. Although the proportion of domestic production to consumption declined slightly in 1907, its trend in previous years has been steadily upward, and it will no doubt continue to increase until the domestic potter will supply the demand for the higher grades of his wares as he now supplies that for the lower grades. The general tendency in quality of domestic pottery is undoubtedly upward, and the fact that there was a marked advance during 1907 in the production of distinctively American china augurs well for the future of the industry.

A statistical report on the clay-working industries of the United States, prepared by Jefferson Middleton, of the United States Geological Survey, has just been published by the Survey. An advance chapter from "Mineral Resources of the United States, Calendar Year 1907."

THE RUBAYAT OF A SCOTCH HIGHBALL

By O. HENRY.

(Copyright, 1906, by the S. S. McClure Co.)

THIS document is intended to strike somewhere between a temperance lecture and the "Bartender's Guide." Relative to the latter, drink shall swell the theme and be set forth in abundance. Agreeably to the former, not an elbow shall be crooked.

Bob Babbitt was "off the stuff," which means, as you will discover by referring to the unabridged dictionary of Bohemia, that he had "cut out the booze;" that he was "on the water wagon." The reason for Bob's sudden attitude of hostility toward the "demon rum," as the white ribbons miscall whisky (see the "Bartender's Guide"), should be of interest to reformers and saloon keepers.

There is always hope for a man who when sober will not concede or acknowledge that he was ever drunk. But when a man will say, in the apt words of the phrase distiller, "I had a beautiful skate on last night," you will have to put stuff in his coffee as well as pray for him.

One evening on his way home Babbitt dropped in at the Broadway bar that he liked best. Always there were three or four fellows there from the downtown offices whom he knew. And then there would be highballs and stories, and he would hurry home to dinner a little late, but feeling good and a little sorry for the poor Standard Oil company. On this evening as he entered he heard some one say, "Babbitt was in last night as full as a boiled owl."

Babbitt walked to the bar and saw in the mirror that his face was as white as chalk. For the first time he had looked truth in the eyes. Others had lied to him; he had dissembled with himself. He was a drunkard and had not known it. What he had fondly imagined was a pleasant exhilaration had been maudlin intoxication. His fancied wit had been drive, his gay humors nothing but the noisy vagaries of a sot. But never again!

"A glass of seltzer," he said to the bartender.

A little silence fell upon the group of his cronies, who had been expecting him to join them.

"Going off the stuff, Bob?" one of them asked politely and with more formality than the highballs ever called forth.

"Yes," said Babbitt.

Some one of the group took up the unwashed thread of a story he had been telling, the bartender shoved over a dime and a nickel change from the quarter, ungarished with his customary smile, and Babbitt walked out.

"A glass of seltzer," he said to the bartender.

Now, Babbitt had a home and a wife, but that is another story. And I will tell you that story, which will show you a better habit and a worse story than you could find in the man who invented the phrase.

It began away up in Sullivan county, where so many rivers and so much trouble begins—or begin. How would you say that? It was July, and Jessie was a summer boarder at the Mountain Summit hotel, and Bob, who was just out of college, saw her one day, and they were married in September. That's the tabloid novel—one swallow of water and it's gone.

But those July days! Let the exclamation point expound it, for I shall not. For particulars you might read up on "Romeo and Juliet" and Abraham Lincoln's thrilling sonnet about "You can fool some of the people," etc., and Darwin's works.

But one thing I must tell you about. Both of them were mad over Omar's "Rubayat." They knew every verse of the old bluffer by heart—not consecutively, but picking "em out here and there as you fork the mushrooms in a fifty-cent steak at a bordelaise. Sullivan county is full of rocks and trees, and Jessie used to sit on them, and please be good; used to sit on the rocks—and Bob had a way of standing behind her with his hands over her shoulders holding her hands and his face close to hers, and they would repeat over and over their favorite verses of the old tentmaker. They saw only the poetry and philosophy of the lines then—indeed, they agreed that the wine was only an image and that what was meant to be celebrated was some divinity or maybe love or life. However, at that time neither of them had tasted the stuff that goes with a sixty-cent table d'hôte.

Where was I? Oh, they married and came to New York. Bob showed his college diploma and accepted a position filling in for a lawyer's office at $15 a week. At the end of two years he had worked up to $50 and got his first taste of Bohemia, the kind that won't stand the borax and formaldehyde tests.

They had two furnished rooms and a little kitchen. To Jess, accustomed to the mild but beautiful savor of a country town, the dreary Bohemia was sugar and spice. She hung fish scales on the walls of her rooms and bought a rakish looking sideboard and learned to play the banjo. Twice or thrice a week they dined at French or Italian tables d'hôte in a cloud of smoke and brag and unshorn hair. Jess learned to drink a cocktail in order to get the cherry. At home she smoked a cigarette after dinner. She learned to pronounce Chianti and leave her olive stones for the waiter to pick up. Once she essayed to say la, la, la in a crowd, but got only as far as the second one.

They met one or two couples while dining out and became friendly with them. The sideboard was stocked with Scotch and rye and a liqueur. They had their new friends in to dinner, and all were laughing at nothing by 1 a. m. Some plastering fell in the room below them, for which Bob had to pay $4.50. Thus they footed it merrily on the ragged frontiers of the country that has no boundary lines or government.

And soon Bob fell in with his cronies and learned to keep his foot on the little rail six inches above the floor for an hour or so every afternoon before he went home. Drink always rubbed him the right way, and he would reach his rooms as jolly as a sandboy. Jessie would meet him at the door, and generally they would dance some insane kind of a rigodon about the floor by way of greeting. Once when Bob's feet became confused and he tumbled headlong over a footstool Jessie laughed so heartily and long that he had to throw all the couch pillows at her to make her hush.

In such wise life was speeding for them, on the day when Bob Babbitt first felt the power that the gift-gifted him. But let us get back to our lamb and mint sauce.

When Bob got home that evening he found Jessie in a long apron cutting up a lobster for the newburg. Usually when Bob came in mellow from his hour at the bar his welcome was hilarious, though somewhat tintured with Scotch smoke.

By screams and snatches of song and certain audible testimonials to domestic felicity was his advent proclaimed. When she heard his foot on the stairs the old maid in the hall room always stuffed cotton into her ears. At first Jessie had shrunk from the rudeness and flavor of these spiritual greetings, but as the fog of the false Bohemia gradually encompassed her she came to accept them as love's true and proper greeting.

Bob came in without a word, smiled, kissed her neatly, but noiselessly, took up a paper and sat down. In the hall room the old maid held her two plugs of cotton poised, filled with anxiety.

Jessie dropped lobster and knife and ran to him with frightened eyes.

"What's the matter, Bob? Are you ill?"

"Not at all, dear."

"Then what's the matter with you?"

"Nothing." Hearken, brethren. When She—who has a right to ask interrogates you concerning a change she finds in your mood answer her thus: Tell her that you in a sudden rage have murdered your grandmother; tell her that you have robbed orphans and that remorse has stricken you; tell her your fortune is swept away; that you are beset by enemies, by bunions, by any kind of malevolent fate! But do not, if peace and happiness are worth as much as a grain of mustard seed to you—do not answer her "Nothing."

Jessie went back to the lobster in silence. She cast looks of darkest suspicion at Bob. He had never acted that way before.

When dinner was on the table she set out the bottle of Scotch and the glasses. Bob declined.

"Tell you the truth, Jess," he said. "I've cut out the drink. Help yourself, of course. If you don't mind I'll try some of the seltzer straight."

"You've stopped drinking?" she said, looking at him steadily and unsmilingly. "What for?"

"It wasn't doing me any good," said Bob. "Don't you approve of the idea?"

Jessie raised her eyebrows and one shoulder slightly.

"Entirely," she said, with a sculptured smile. "I could not conscientiously advise any one to drink or smoke or whistle on Sunday."

The meal was finished almost in silence. Bob tried to make talk, but his efforts lacked the stimulus of previous evenings. He felt miserable, and once or twice his eye wandered toward the bottle, but each time the scathing words of his bibulous friend sounded in his ear and his mouth set with determination.

Jessie felt the change deeply. The essence of their lives seemed to have departed suddenly. The restless fever, the false gaiety, the unnatural excitement of the shoddy Bohemia in which they had lived had dropped away in the space of the popping of a cork. She stole curious and forlorn glances at the dejected Bob, who bore the guilty look of at least a wife beater or a family tyrant.

After dinner the colored maid who came in daily to perform such chores cleared away the things. Jessie, with an unreadable countenance, brought back the bottle of Scotch and the glasses and a bowl of cracked ice and set them on the table.

"May I ask," she said, with some of the ice in her tones, "whether I am to be included in your sudden spasm of goodness? If not, I'll make one for myself. It's rather chilly this evening for some reason."

"Oh, come now, Jess," said Bob good naturedly, "don't be too rough on me. Help yourself by all means. There's no danger of your overdoing it. But I thought there was with me, and that's why I quit. Have yours, and then let's get out the banjo and try over that new quickstep."

"I've heard," said Jessie in the tones of the oracle, "that drinking alone is a pernicious habit. No; I don't think I feel like playing this evening. If we are going to reform we may as well abandon the evil habit of banjo playing too."

The walls of the scene hung room vanished.

She took up a book and sat in her little willow rocker on the other side of the table. Neither of them spoke for half an hour.

And then Bob laid down his paper and got up with a strange, absent look on his face and went behind her chair and reached over her shoulders, taking her hands in his, and laid his face close to hers.

In a moment to Jessie the walls of the selene hung room vanished, and she saw the Sullivan county hills and rills. Bob felt her hands quiver in his as he began the verse from old Omar:

"Come, fill the cup and in the fire of spring
The winter garment of repentance fling.
The bird of time has but a little way
To fly—and, lo, the bird is on the wing!"

And then he walked to the table and poured a stiff drink of Scotch into a glass.

But in that moment a mountain breeze had somehow found its way in and blown away the mist of the false Bohemia.

Jessie leaped and with one fierce sweep of her hand sent the bottle and glasses crashing to the floor. The same motion of her arm carried it around Bob's neck, where it met its mate and fastened tight.

"Oh, my God, Bobbie, not that verse—I see now. I wasn't always such a fool, was I? The other one, boy; the one that says, 'Remind it to the heart's desire.' Say that one—to the heart's desire!"

"I know that one," said Bob. "It goes:

"Ah, love, could you and I with him conspire
To grasp this sorry scheme of things entire
Would not we?"

"Let me finish it," said Jessie.

"Would not we shatter it to bits and then Remold it nearer to the heart's desire?"

"It's shattered all right," said Bob, crumpling some glass under his heel.

In some dungeon below the accurate ear of Mrs. Pickens, the landlady, located the sin.

"It's the wild Mr. Babbitt coming home soused again," she said. "And he's got such a nice little wife too!"

OF CHICAGO DELIVERS ADDRESS
AT W. C. T. U. CLOSING.State Union Was Hurt By Financial Depression—The Closing Day's Session.

The W. C. T. U. state convention closed at the Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian church last night with a brilliant address delivered by Dr. Eaton, of Chicago, one of the Prohibition national committee. He spoke in a scholarly and masterly style and entertained a large audience with his brilliant remarks.

The president, Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, then closed the five days' convention, thanking the women for their attendance and support and paying a tribute to the Paducah women who entertained them royally. The delegates remained over until this morning, when they returned to their homes well pleased with the results of the convention.

The union this year ran "in the hole" and is several thousand dollars in debt. This is attributed to the financial depression which existed all over the country. The W. C. T. U. Settlement school at Hindman, Ky., is accomplishing remarkable results and its work last year was a credit to the W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. wave is far reaching, there being organizations all over the globe. The fight being made by the union is remarkable and it is trying to down the liquor traffic everywhere.

BAILEY RETIREMENT RUMORED.

Talk of Resignation of Texan Follows
Sale of His Realty.

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 30.—Reports coming from several sources today that Senator Bailey intends to resign his seat in the senate are given credence from the fact that Bailey during the last two weeks sold a large amount of his private property in and near Galveston, his home. He disposed of one of his North Texas farms for $12,000 and another for $8,000. Several lots in Galveston were also sold by him, and he has given no reason for converting his property into cash.

It is pointed out by leading Democrats here that Bailey has taken no part in the state or national campaign this time and has made no contribution, and this is taken as evidence that he expects to resign, although, if he does, he likely will delay until January, when the legislature meets.

Bailey is now in the east. He went to Washington a week ago to put his younger son in school there.

St. Louis, Sept. 30.—Judge Henry S. Priest, of St. Louis, refused to discuss the reference to him in the statement issued by President Roosevelt. He said that he had been misquoted in the interview which the president cites, asserted that he was not "supporting" W. J. Bryan for the presidency, but that he would vote for him.

GOV. WILLSON
OCTOBER 6

Paducah will be honored by a visit of Governor Augustus E. Willson October 6, when he will deliver an address in the Auditorium rink. This announcement was made last night by Alderman W. T. Miller at the meeting of the delegates. Governor Willson spoke in Paducah last year in the campaign, but rain broke up the crowd, and he promised Alderman Miller that he would return after the campaign. Governor Willson will speak on "Topics of the Day." He will be en route to Fulton but will remain over night in Paducah. A large crowd will hear the governor as he has many friends in the city.

Bradley Goes to Mayfield. Senator William O. Bradley will not speak in Paducah as was announced, but will speak in Mayfield October 12. Instead he will arrive in Paducah Sunday, October 11, and will be the guest of Postmaster Fisher. However, many of his Paducah friends will make the trip to Mayfield to hear the senator.

"BAD NEGRO"

SUBDUED BY PATROLMAN WHO
DISARMED HIM.Big Jim Hall Goes on Rampage and Makes Things Happen for a While.

Big Jim Hall, colored, went out yesterday afternoon to take the city, according to the police, until he butted into the blue and brass buttons of the head of Patrolman Hurley. Not only did Hall curse and abuse the policeman because his fun was rudely interrupted by the hands of the law, but he drew a big pistol to enforce his demand of native freedom. This morning in police court Hall answered the charges of carrying a pistol concealed and for presenting a pistol. His cases were continued until October 2.

According to the police Hall went to Mechanicsburg yesterday and raised a disturbance in the morning, but was ordered away from saloons before trouble occurred. Yesterday afternoon it is said that he braced up with several straights in the saloon of Jim Burger and then ordered a cab. He left the saloon and later the booze got in his effect. Hall called a cab and gave the driver orders to drive him to Fourth street and Broadway. When Marble, the driver, refused and a big pistol is said to have been boosted into his face, with several oaths to hurry. Marble drove his hack on Norton street between Fifth and Sixth streets and in a loud and profane language Hall is alleged to have cursed and told Marble to go at once to Fourth street. Patrolman Hurley heard the disturbance and opened the door and stepped in the cab. Hall resisted the attempt of the cop to disturb his pleasure, but Patrolman Hurley was plucky and took the pistol from the man. After a tussle the police station was reached at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and Hall was given several days to explain just why he acted so rude before the trial will be held.

Theodore Jr. May Get $6 With More
When He Is Worth It.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 30.—Alvin H. Higgins, vice president and general manager of the Hartford Carpet Corporation at Thompsonville, has no fears that Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., will require many years to master the intricacies of the business. Mr. Higgins stated that he expected his prominent apprentice next Thursday, and that he would pay him a weekly salary of $5 or $6. This will be increased as his services become more valuable. The first task of young Roosevelt will be washing, bleaching and spinning raw wool, and for this he will have to don overalls and jumper. He will follow absolutely all the mill's regulations and will be required to report for work at 7 o'clock in the morning and work hard ten and a half hours every day.

JOHN K. HENDRICK
Speaks to Small Crowd at Court House.

A small crowd attended the Bryan club meeting last night at the county court house. The circuit court room was comfortably filled and Col. John K. Hendrick was given the floor and spoke for one hour and thirty-five minutes. He was introduced by Col. Gas Singleton and delivered a brilliant speech, oratory only considered. Mr. Hendrick was given the entire time by other speakers who were expected to speak so that he could do justice to his talk.

Mr. Hendrick's talk was along the same lines as other speakers have made at previous meetings of the club. Mr. Hendrick knocked on Mr. Roosevelt and Taft but praised William J. to the skies as usual. It was considered one of the best Democratic addresses delivered here this fall.

There is a difference between being cordial and drinking them.

by contributions. This is not the question. If it is found a party to a suit has given a sum of money to one of the jurors, the court does not stop to inquire whether or not the juror is an incorruptible man or whether in accepting the money he explicitly stated it was accepted with the understanding that he was under no obligation to consider it in making up his verdict. The court would hold that the giving of the money by an interested party or the receiving of the money was a contempt of court and an interference with the administration of justice.

Public officials occupy much the same position as jurors. They are constantly called upon to decide questions between favor-seeking corporations on one hand and the people on the other, and there is a very general impression that the officials of these favor-seeking corporations do not put up large sums of money from purely patriotic motives.

"I do not mean to say that Hughes was influenced by the contributions made to him by trust magnates. I do not mean to say you were influenced by contributions collected by Harriman; neither do I mean to say Taft will be influenced by contributions being made to his fund by trust magnates. But I do mean to say that the American people have a right to know what contributions are being made, that they may judge for themselves the motives of the givers and the obligation imposed upon those who receive them.

"The reflection upon the people involved in your charge that the would misuse the knowledge which publicity would give, is unworthy one who has been elevated to so high an office by the voters of the people, and I venture the assertion that you cannot procure from Taft an endorsement of your defense. He is now before the people; he is offering himself as a candidacy for the presidency; he dare not tell the people to whom he appeals that they have not sense enough to form a just and correct opinion as to the purpose which leads the party interested in special legislation to make big contributions.

"You fear we would misrepresent the motives of those who are contributing to the Republican campaign fund, and cast unjust suspicion upon the Republican candidates. If the names and amounts were made known before election. Your argument, if sound, would prevent publication after election, for why should unjust suspicion be cast upon officials after election any more than before? Does not the secrecy before election increase this suspicion?

"We are going to give you an opportunity to misrepresent the motives of those who give to our campaign fund, and to arouse all the suspicion you can; we are going to prove to the people that we are making a fight for the whole people and not for those who have been enjoying privileges and favors at the hands of the government, and we expect that the honest sentiment of the country will rebuke the party whose convention refused to endorse any kind of publicity and whose candidates are not willing that the people should know until after the polls are closed what predatory interests have been active in the support of the Republican party."

able to our welfare and success as a commercial center.

I need only to call your attention to the river today. In the place of the mighty Ohio seeping majestically past the city, you have only a sluggish stream, studded with sandbars and shoals, making it impossible to navigate even so small a boat as a gasoline launch between here and Evansville, and here and Nashville. Do the wholehearted tonight and they will tell you that their trade has fallen off 50 per cent since navigation closed above here.

In order to impress upon you the importance of Paducah's river interests, I wish to quote for your information the figures as given in the government reports and published by the board of engineers who have in charge the improvement of this river. In the year of 1906 Pittsburgh and Allegheny City, with a combined population of 350,000 received and sent by river 4,278,382 tons of freight. Cincinnati with a population of 325,902, received and sent 4,000,000 tons. Wheeling, with a population of 41,000 and over 400 factories, 241,000 tons. Louisville, with a population of 204,731, 1,017,526. Evansville, with her 59,007 people, only 374,560 tons, and Paducah, with only a population as reported by the government of 19,446 received and sent 228,080 tons of freight, one-fifth as much as Pittsburgh, where the tonnage originating is greater than in any city in the world, and estimated at 122 millions annually; less than one-fifth of Cincinnati, four-fifths of what Louisville shipped with her great cement mills; 2 and one-third times as much as Evansville and almost four times as much as Wheeling with her 400 factories.

From reports on file in my office I give you the following data for the year 1907. Incoming tonnage handled by railroads 496,360 tons. Outgoing freight 420,680 tons. A total of 917,040 tons.

According to the river reports made and furnished to the government department of commerce and labor 828,080 tons were handled by Paducah operated boats, 50,025 tons handled over the public wharf, 7,500,000 cross ties and 250,000 bags of corn and over a thousand tons of hay and merchandise not already reported.

There are landed at the wharf here daily an average of not less than 150 people, who come here to shop or on business, which means over 50,000 persons in one year. They are not altogether transients, but shoppers who spend their money with our merchants and business people.

Last fall I visited Pittsburgh and Wheeling. Situated 35 miles below Pittsburgh I was shown the city of Midland, Pa., which two years ago was a fruit orchard, but upon the completion of the dams in the Ohio Insuring them water the river found for large purposes, this orchard has now made way to 2 square miles of coke ovens, furnaces and mills, consuming 6,500,000 tons of coal annually for their own use, employing over 3,000 men to operate the plants, and 5,000 homes to shelter the families, all brought about by the improvement of the Ohio river under the present scheme of locks and dams.

It is a pipe dream of the imagination for us to dream of a like condition of affairs here when the 9 foot stage is reached? Stranger things have happened than this, and now that the opportunity is before us to get into the band wagon and serenade the national congress next winter by joining the Ohio Valley Improvement association, which meets in Louisville, October 22 and 23, will you not for the future greatness of Paducah lead the way to the improvement of this river? Paducah is entitled to her just recognition as the fourth largest shipper upon this great waterway. While millions have been spent in the upper Ohio for the benefit of commerce, not one cent has ever been spent down here with the exception of a dyke or two on Grand Chain, which was necessary even in good stages of water.

And now gentlemen, in conclusion, let me add that the great benefits to be derived from this great work are not confined to the river man alone, but to all who live in the great Ohio Valley, and especially Paducah, by reason of her location at the gateway of this valley leading into the south and on to the gulf and the Panama Canal.

REPUBLICAN TICKET

Mr. Dorian should receive all of the salary and thus the will of the people should be carried out, as was evinced at the last election when Colonel Dorian was elected by a large majority. The Democrats have a candidate for the office and the eligibility of Colonel Dorian to succeed himself would mean a long-winded contest in the courts.

As City Jailer Wade Brown carried all of the city precincts by an overwhelming majority for the position of city jailer, Mr. Brown was placed in nomination and elected unanimously.

The Nominees. All of the Republicans nominees are well known business men, thoroughly able to conduct the city's affairs and form an appropriate background for Mayor Smith's administration. Alderman W. T. Miller is a

It is wonderful, but perfectly natural, to any one who studies the question, the reaction that has set in for made-to-measure clothes. The ready-made clothes cost now as much as made-to-measure, and there is the kernel of the proposition.

A good tailor—and only good tailors are real tailors—studies his patron as a miniaturist does his model—he first catches the spirit of the man's individuality, and then creates clothes that not only fit his person but also his personality. His products are always distinctive—always a bit unlike all other suits. They bear the stamp of an artist; are never extreme—never obtrusive—never exaggerated. Just as force is strength in repression, just so style is most definite when subdued.

Merchant tailoring is an art. The impulse that prompts men to prefer an original painting will always keep merchant tailoring securely in the place of leadership.

LAST CHANCE!

COAL WILL ADVANCE!

FAIR WARNING!

Below is what the coal mine operators and railroad companies tell us: Car famine, demand for coal, low stocks, hard winter expected. Advice from fourteen coal mine operators already that they will advance the price of coal from one to two cents per bushel the first of October. All other coal mine operators will follow, as they have always done before. Only one more week to get your order in on present prices. This is not to frighten the public, but to advise our customers.

To the Public—We want you to beware of "scoop shovel" dealers. Established dealers cannot afford to mislead you, and their business investments makes them liable for contracts.

BRADLEY BROS.

The inexperienced "scoop shovel" man is here today and yonder tomorrow, and a bad proposition on a cold winter's morning.
